

Father, for the rest of us, make us the witnesses that you have called us to be. Reinforce and reinvigorate our confidence in the sufficiency of Scripture. Father, give us your powerful aid through the work of your Spirit as these opportunities to talk about Christ come up. Help us, Father to stand for the truth. Help us to be faithful. And even as much if not more Father, work in the hearts of those unbelievers because only you can circumcise their hearts. Only you have the power to overcome the horrible bondage of sin.

Father, we are grateful and stunned and tremble in the fact that you have entrusted the spread of the gospel to broken human vessels like us. But Father, as we share, would you show that the power of these things, the power of the gospel is yours. In our weakness, prove your strength. Father, bring prepared hearts to each one of us here in this room, so that we may have opportunity to proclaim the gospel to the lost and that we would see people come to Christ through our own personal witness.

Father, that's what you called us to do, but if you don't help us, we will fail. Give us your grace to accomplish what you commanded so that it might all be to your glory and that other souls would be brought into the chorus of voices that praise the name of Christ who saved us from our sin. In His glorious and matchless name we pray, amen.

This message was transcribed by Shari Main.